The planned on 14th of October 2021 at Warsaw Medical University is a satellite meeting of the 6th EMBA Congress, supported by the NAWA project and consisting of the consortium: Warsaw Medical University as Leader (Poland), Dutch National Milk Bank in Emma Children's Hospital Amsterdam UMC (Netherlands), Human Milk Bank in University of Torino (Italy), Dublin City University, Ireland Maynooth University, Co. Kildare (Ireland).

The mission of NAWA is to support the development of Poland in the field of science and higher education. One of the programs designed to achieve this goal are the International Academic Partnerships, which aim to develop lasting solutions for scientific implementation and teaching cooperation with foreign partners.

The project entitled "Pro-health significance of human milk donation", supported by NAWA, focuses on awareness of knowledge on human milk donation in European countries.

The program includes presentations by foreign and Polish experts in the field of neonatal nutrition therapy and human milk banking.

The meeting is free of charge but requires registration by the end of July.
